

learning & growing together

The thought behind Muktangan

Elizabeth (Liz) and Sunil Mehta founded "Muktangan", where "Mukt" means freedom and "Angan", the space in front of the home.

Together, the two words represent the freedom given to express oneself within a secure space that meets the world. The focus of this initiative is on child friendly education through innovative pedagogy for the urban, under-served community with the principle "education for the community, by the community".

Elizabeth is an educationist who has done pioneering work in the rural and urban sectors of India. She was keen to implement her ideas to improve quality standards of education for the children coming from the underprivileged strata of society. Sunil was a highly successful business man and the CMD of Paragon Textiles, a leading Textile Mill in the city of Mumbai, India. The couple come together to contribute to the wellbeing of the community of urban poor, living in the areas close to his textile mill in central Mumbai. Many of Paragon's employees were from this community and Liz and Sunil were determined to make a difference in their lives.

Liz and Sunil embarked on this journey after deliberating on their plan to impart education for the children of the community, by the teachers drawn from the community in a meeting attended by recognised representatives of the community. The residents wholeheartedly supported the idea of education for their children. With a humble beginning of running a small pre-school for children in 2003, Muktangan now manages seven schools and a teacher education centre, imparting English medium education to 3,346 3,000 children and employing 421 community teachers & faculty.

The deeper purpose of the Muktangan Programme

Elizabeth, having worked in mainstream education as Project Director of a national school improvement/development program across India, is well aware of the many issues affecting the quality of mainstream school education across the country. In spite of increasing rates of enrolment, the universally-recognized poor quality was leading to low learning outcomes and high dropout rates. There were many disconnects in education e.g. between teacher and school education, between the school and community, between the child and the curriculum, but most important of all, between the teacher educator and the trainee, as also between the teacher and the child in their respective classrooms. There needed to be congruence in the teaching-learning processes adopted in teacher education and schools. A teacher who has been trained through theoretical lectures without much practical training will find it very challenging to adopt a more child-centric approach in the classroom.

Since its inception, Muktangan is designed as an integrated model of teacher and school education with the idea of creating classrooms where the teacher could be more responsive to each child's learning needs, and similarly the teacher educator to the teacher-trainee's needs.

Pedagogy, the processes of teaching & learning, and classroom infrastructure needed to change in order to become more supportive of collaborative learning. This would enable both teacher educators and teachers, each in their own classrooms, to work not as "directors" of their students' learning but more as their "partners". The processes adopted both in teacher education and school classrooms would then be in congruence with one another.

Highpoints at Mukhtangan during the year

Yes! Our students did it again! Our fourth consecutive 10th Grade batch successfully passed the 2017 SSC Board Examinations. We are so proud of them! As a matter of fact, over 75% of our students secured a first class. This year too, our topper is a girl, Mayuri Arutla, who secured 92.20%. Mayuri's dream is to become a doctor.

84 empowered women and men successfully completed the first year of our Teacher Education Programme...and are now on the road to becoming change agents who one-day will play a critical role in the education and overall development of under-served children.

Sixty-six teacher-trainees joined Mukhtangan whilst the rest secured jobs in other organizations.

Mukhtangan was awarded the Platinum Seal (Champion Level) by GuideStar India. This is the highest level of certification awarded to a Not-for-Profit organization for transparency & public accountability.

“Expressions 2016” was held on December 3rd, 2016 at the Yashwant Rao Chavan Auditorium, at Mutunga, Mumbai, where children from all our seven schools showcased their talent in dance, drama and singing. They put up a stupendous performance after months of hard work. Kudos to our teachers for their tireless dedication and to the confidence in their students! Each act had an important message to convey. To name a few; education for girls, ills of child marriage and reforms carried out by Smt. Savitribai Phule. They truly demonstrated how India’s diversity is its biggest strength! The performance ended with a humorous play about the Internet Age & Selfie Addictions. It was a proud moment for parents and teachers, alike!

Students of Muktangan at the 2017 Standard Chartered Mumbai Marathon

As the saying goes...if you want to win something, run a 100 meters...if you want to experience something, run a marathon...Muktangan has been participating in the Mumbai Marathon since 2008! This year, 2017 was even bigger, our students, teachers, staff and parents came out in large numbers to cheer the runners. Our student choir even sang for their fellow Mumbaikars who too had come to watch the marathon. Over these years the Marathon has become a platform where people from all walks of life come together and celebrate the spirit of sport and community development.

Events at ~~Mumbai~~ Mangan

The theme of the “Project Day” was – “Mumbai through my Eyes – be a Change Agent”.

The students correlated what they had learnt in each subject and made a connection to the challenges faced by Mumbai city and subsequently showcased how each one can be a change agent by addressing these issues.

Students showcased Mumbai's water supply system – from Tulsi Lake to our homes. They highlighted the importance of keeping our lakes clean and at the same time conserving water.

Students explained how traffic woes in the city can be addressed with the construction of multi-layered flyovers and skyscrapers.

The Palak Palak Mela was organized by the trainees who were pursuing the TISS certified Diploma in 'Early Child Development'. The course required the trainees to organize a 'Community Mela'. The theme of the Mela was to showcase the importance of parents and the community in a child's education.

Participation in external events by Mukhtangan students

The exhibition “Learning Architecture” was curated and designed as a participatory process through workshops with the students of Mukhtangan’s Love Grove School. This exhibition was the culmination of a doctoral design research project by Nicola Antaki, an architect & PhD from the UK. The exhibition demonstrates visually and publicly how learning and co-design can interplay (re)create cities, and how children can be further involved in the improvement of the spaces they inhabit.

“Not everyone can become a great artist, but great artists can come from anywhere,” goes the famous line from the Disney movie Ratatouille. It is this philosophy that Elise Foster Vander Elst, the organiser of the FOCUS Photography Festival, has followed when curating her exhibitions with photographs from young, up-and-coming talent. Students from Mukhtangan participated in this festival.

The workshops were an elaborate process, of which the theme was memory and how to express it through photography. The word ‘memory’ was discussed and how it could be interpreted in various ways. The students then went on to see how it was already represented through art. The depth of each photograph and the story behind it became apparent while speaking to Om from Mukhtangan; he shared that he took a photograph of a Rubik’s cube, because, when he looked at it, he recalled that nothing is impossible if one used the right formula.
